Liberal Leader Pearson Expected At Giant Lac La Biche Rally

Preparations are under way to handle an expected 1,000 persons when Liberals in the federal constituency of Athabasca meet in Lac la Biche September 27.

Party leader Lester B. Pearson will attend in the course of what has been described as an "opening gun" campaign tour.

After speaking to the 300 delegates expected at the National Young Liberal convention at the Banff School of Fine Arts September 21 through 23 he will arrive in Edmonton September 25. He will speak at Convocation Hall on the university campus that evening.

Mr. Pearson's presence at Lac la Biche will give added interest to what should be a noteworthy convention. Both international affairs and vital domestic issues will be included in his addresses.

The signs are out for a federal election early next year, Edmonton Young Liberals feel.

At Lac la Biche Edward Hall, who lost out to A. Aloisio, SC, in the last provincial election, is expected to allow his name to stand for nomination. Edmonton lawyer Andre Duchene says he will not be seeking the post.

Shower Honors Lucille Tatum

LAC LA BICHE — Lucille Tatum was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held in the Masonic Hall on September 7. Fifty ladies were present. The many lovely gifts were presented to the bride-elect in a decorated carriage.

Hostesses for the evening included: Mrs. G. Franchuk, Poly Bara, Cecille Rudiger, Angie Coutney, Evelyn Leehochinski, Mrs. T. McCullough, Mrs. J. Hamar, Mrs. L. Kolstad, Mrs. M. Steffin, Mrs. W. Switzer, Mrs. F. Perisini, Mrs. E. Guay Mrs. F. Creighton, Mrs. M. Fedora and Mary Shewchuk.

Miss Tatum's marriage to Mr. Dave Bohnsen will take place Sept. 16 in the Edson United Church.

UNION PRINTERS VOTE FOR STRIKE

Union printers in Edmonton have voted to go on strike. This action could mean a tie up of members of the International Typographers Union in most city shops, excepting the Edmonton Journal which does not have a union.

Bookbinders and pressmen in ITU shops, however, have agreed to sign a contract with their employers.

"But, your Ad in Alberta Country Life classifieds said to bring a friend!"

Funeral Rite For Willie Plamondon, District Pioneer

LAC LA BICHE — Willie Plamondon, 71, a well known resident of Lac la Biche and district, died recently at his home after attending his brother's funeral the same day. He was born in Lake Leelanau, Mich, USA, and came to Plamondon in 1909. In 1931 he married Miss Annie Hurd of Hamilton, Ont. In 1938 they moved to Lac la Biche where he operated a pool room for eight and one-half years, then he worked for the Canadian Legion for several years before retiring.

He leaves to mourn, his loving wife Annie; three brothers, Ferdinand of Plamondon, Lizium of Vancouver and Louis of Lake Leelanau, Mich., and one sister Selina of Lake Leelanau.

He was buried Aug. 17 from St. Catherine's Catholic Church where requiem high mass was sung by the Rev. Father Viel. Rev. Fr. McGrane, a former pastor, now of Edmonton, a friend of the decreased for over 20 years, was in the sanctuary.

Pall bearers were six nephews, Lawrence L'Heureux, Roy Plamondon, Sinclair Gauthier, Edgar Plamondon. Donald Bosse and Alec Plamondon.

Interment took place in the Lac la Biche Cemetery.

The large crowd of mourners of relatives and friends, the beautiful floral offerings and the many spiritual bouquets gave testimony of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by the people of the town and district.

Carnival Held At Waterways

The Waterways Curling Club ended its annual three days carnival with a dance at the McMurray Theatre on Sept. 4. Despite the rainy weather a fair attendance was noted. The sleeping bag which was given away as a door prize was won by Miss Theresa Campre, while Dave Pare won the raffle of the ladies' luggage set. A special thanks to those who so willingly gave of their time to help.

REV. J. R. McGRANE, formerly of Lac la Biche, parish priest of St. Angela's in Edmonton, was interviewed on CFRN-TV's Face The Newsmen program Wednesday night. The priest, whose Exeter corps brought international fame to Lac la Biche sea cadets, discussed juvenile delinquency with CFRN's Joe Taylor, CJCA's Terry Spence, and T. W. Pue, president of Sun Publishing Co. Ltd.

Pantry Shower For McMurray Minister, Wife

Members of both St. Aidon's and St. John's WA, as well as other friends and neighbors gathered recently to give Rev. and Mrs. P. Harris of St. John's Anglican Church a pantry shower.

Several interesting contests were pesented by St. Aiden's WA president, Mrs. A. B. Mitchell. Winners of contests were Mrs. K. L. Hill and Mrs. S. Pawelek. Following the contests Mrs. Harris opened the gifts assisted by St. John's WA president Mrs. A. Haxton.

A delicious lunch concluded an enjoyable evening.

Weekly Publisher's Dream Comes True

Joseph McKibbon, editor and owner of the Delia Times, has returned to the land of his birth—Ireland—for an extended holiday. Joe is among the few remaining pioneers among Alberta weekly newspaper publishers. He expects to be in his homeland for an extended period and prior to his leaving he made arrangements to close down his plant during his absence. In the words of the Hanna Herald, "Joe is one of those people in the happy position of not having to account to anyone. Therefore, it came as no surprise when he said 'I don't know how long I'll be gone, time means nothing to me'."

No Inquest Yet In Lac La Biche Deaths -- Enquiries Proceeding

Investigations are still proceeding into the apparently connected double-death in the Lac la Biche area last month.

The case was sparked when a decomposed, headless body was found in a drainage ditch near the township and complicated a week later by the apparent suicide of a young man questioned about the finding.

RCMP indicate that no date has yet been set for the inquest.

Oblate Fathers Settlement Has Aided Lac La Biche Districts Since 1853

By Rev. R. Levert

We were reading in last week's Lac la Biche Herald that the Lac la Biche Mission Territory was being organized in an official school district. Most of the readers are familiar with the Mission boarding school, now known as Academie St. Joseph, many of them in fact have attended it.

In recent year one of the familiar sights in Lac la Biche has been a group of 10 to 12 year-old boys led by a little priest hardly taller than his wards either to a Saturday movie, a picnic, or participation in a highly contested little league baseball or hockey game. To the question of a stranger "Who are the well-behaved boys?" any local boy would answer "Oh, they're the Mission kids."

The Lac la Biche Mission itself was founded by the Oblate Fathers first on the location now known as "The Old Town" and then transferred to its present site some six miles northwest of town.. Since its inception in 1853, the Mission has always strived to provide adequate education facilities to the children of its area and especially, since the arrival of the Nuns or Sisters known as Les Filles De Jesus in 1905, has constantly provided free educational services to the Metis and other children not only of the Mission Settlement but also, up to the time they were provided with schools of their own, of all surrounding districts as well, namely Lac la Biche, Plamondon, Atmore, Egg Lake, Normandeau, Grandin, Craigend, Briereville, Owl River, Barnegat and Venice thanks to the boarding and dormitory facilities established in the former Bishop's Residence at the Mission converted into a convent building. Children from as far as Edson, Slave Lake, McMurray, Athabasca and other, at the time, isolated districts have also benefited from it's educational facilities.

At no time was any tuition fee elicited for the use of the Mission's classroom facilities, except in the last few years when a $10 yearly voluntary contribution was suggested. A nominal fee for boarding was all that was charged, at one time as low as $6 a month and in certain instances of poverty and hard times even that was sacrificed in order to provide education to some unfortunate child or children.

The Lac la Biche Mission School is still at the disposal not only of the children of its vicinity but also of any boy who for one reason or another, but mainly in consequence of the breaking up of families either by the death of one or both of the parents, sickness or separation, cannot be brought up adequately at home. For instance, last year there was an Edmonton widow with a seven year old boy to support who wrote to the Mission's Director: "Dear Father; I am a working widow and part-time university student. Following a gas-furnace explosion I suffered severe burns and have been at the hospital and off work for many weeks. I find it very difficult to do my housework and care for my boy with my disability, teach for a living and study besides. I wonder could you help me by taking my boy in your school? The Grey Nuns told me about it while I was in the hospital. I hate to part from my child but I realize it is not fair to him to be neglected because of my mishap." The child was taken in at the Mission Boarding School and was very happy in his new surroundings.

At the Mission School last year were also two sons of a St. Paul resident whose wife had died in childbirth and two others from the city whose mother died of a heart attack. Then there was the 13 year old son of another widow. This boy suffered from the lack of a paternal hand to guide him and was beginning to be a little hard to handle at home. Here is the testimony of an older sister after her brother's return home for Christmas holidays. "Dear Father! My young brother has been attending school at your Mission since September and after having him home for the holidays, one cannot help but see a definite improvement in him. He was not really bad, however he was in need of discipline and of improving his manners, all of which he seems to have received at the Mission. You are really making a little man of him. God bless you and your work."

Similar cases to those cited above are brought to the Mission Director each year and receive always due consideration. There are cases that could be dealt with in very few other institutions in the province, if at all. For instance, the case of the gentleman who had been transferred to Calgary and whose two boys aged 12 and nine had up to then attended French schools only and in consequence knew hardly any English. Sending them to an ordinary Alberta Public School would have resulted in a serious setback in grades and probably have caused an inferiority complex in those two young ones for the rest of their lives. They were sent to the Mission School of Lac la Biche and as a result of special attention were ready in June to enter any public school in the province without loss of grading and, what is still more important as any psychologist will admit, without loss of prestige.

Another case involved a city boy of 11 who had been caught shoplifting and been brought to juvenile court. He came from a respectable family, was well mannered and doing fairly well in his studies. It just so happened he had fallen in with the wrong gang. He was so upset that he could not face his former teacher or classmates any more. He was taken in at the Lac la Biche Mission school, accepted as one of the family receiving the same solicitous treatments as the others, thus given back his self-respect and as a result passed his grade with honors.

He has now returned to his family and school and so far no more complaint has been raised against him. More cases could be cited where a possible future juvenile delinquent and even future criminal has been put on the right path thanks to the understanding care of the Mission's good Sisters and Fathers.

In view of all these facts, let us hope that the news of a projected school district for the Lac la Biche Mission territory will not mean that the Mission School will discontinue to cater to the children of the district, thus putting it in a position such as to have to close its doors to is boarders also. The disrict has too long benefited from the Mission's charitable solicitude for its residents to easily accept its abandonment. On the contrary, may we see it continue its good work for years and years to come.

Have you seen the new fall colors? Deeper tones of the lavender and soft green which were worn this summer are the mode this fall. Mulberry magenta and fuchsia are some of the red purple tones. They are often combined with black or dark grey. For back-to-school wear skirts have inverted box pleats rather than all around knife pleats Bulky sweaters now feature colorful designs and trims.

Leg Measurements for Nylon Hosiery — Often women forget that the length and dimensions of their legs are as important to correct fit as the foot size. For stockings that are too long or too short never feel completely comfortable, rarely wear well, and naturally, can't flatter the leg as they should.

If you "always buy medium length" or you are not certain what your correct length is, do this:

Measure your leg from the bottom of the heel straight up to the garter button of your foundation.

Note the shape of your leg—slender, average or full. Remember, nylon hosiery is made in proportioned lengths and a very generous leg that measures 30 inches in length will require a slightly longer stocking that an average leg of 30 inches. Women who have grown heavier, too, and who still select the same length as when their legs were slimmer, often find their stockings are too short and too tight. A simple remeasurement can give worlds of new comfort and year.

A stocking fits well if: It does not bag; It does not bind; It can be fastened without folding the welt; It can be fastened without stretching the welt; It feels comfortable when bending or sitting; The seams stay straight after initial adjustment.

In Memoriam

SAWCHUK: In loving memory of Arsen Sawchuk, who passed away on September 15th, 1960.

We watched him slowly fade away,
We tried so hard to make him stay;
But God was watching from above,
And took him home to share his love.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by daughter Tina and son-in-law Peter, grand children and great-grandchildren.

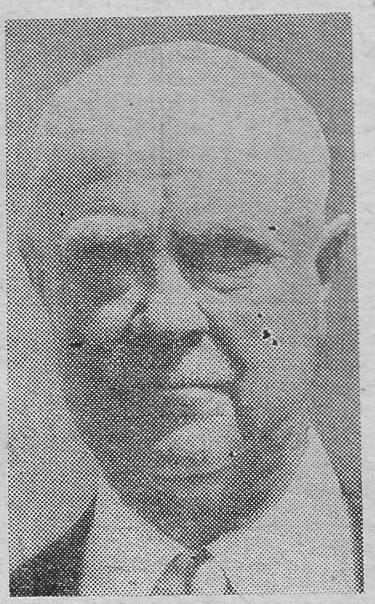
OUR COMMONWEALTH

The Servant of the Nations

By H. E. Carran

Sir Abubaker Tafawa Balewa, Negro Prime Minister of Nigeria, a country once a British colony but now one of the free States of the Commonwealth, gave great emphasis to the statement that "our Commonwealth has changed the concept of the use of power from that of the 'Robber concept' to that of the 'Good Samaritan" when, in a speech reviewing events leading up to the establishment of his country as a free and sovereign state he said of the British that "we came first as masters, then as leaders, then as partners AND ALWAYS AS FRIENDS". And as in Nigeria, so in India, Pakistan, Kenya, Rhodesia and indeed, in all countries where we came to govern, and even in some, like Egypt, where we never actually took over the government, the story is basically the same.



H. E. CARRAN

This is the great truth that lies behind Sir Winston Churchill's suggestion that "the mantle of Israel seems to have fallen on us" for history shows that, to the best of our ability, we have indeed "loosed the bands of wickeness, undone the heavy burdens, let the oppressed go free, and broken every yoke" in all coutries that came under our government or where we established our influence. There is a lot of loose talk being spread about the "evils of Colonialism" but a knowledge of the true facts shows this talk for what it really is, part of the Communist propaganda designed to weaken our faith in ourselves and our mission, the mission Churchill had in mind when, addressing the U.S. Congress in December, 1941, he said "He must indeed have a blind soul who cannot see that some great purpose and design are being worked out here below of which we have the honour to be faithful servants."

No one now doubts that this world of ours is fast going into a new age in which the "way of life" will be very different to anything in the historic past. It is but common sense to recognise that not all nations can be on a dead level of equality in their readiness to enter the new era. It is also just plain sense to recognise that no nations insufficiently advanced in education, political science and economic development can survive in the coming age. It would seem to be like a class in a school. At the end of the school year (in this case a "world age") the main body of students will move on to a higher grade but to do this each individual must attain a certain standard. Those who do not measure up must drop out. Therefore, if it is true that God cares equally for all and is unwilling that any should perish, certain among those nations properly equipped educationally, technologically and, especially morally, would have to move in on the less prepared nations and hasten their development. Euch nations, to succeed, would have to depart drastically from the old concept of the use of power and would literally have to adopt the 'Good Samaritan' attitude and take them in hand, first as masters, then as leaders and finally as partners but all the time as friends, exactly as Balewa of Nigeria said.

It should be obvious to all this great task of service to the nations has been assigned chiefly to the British group of nations, the white nations of our Commonwealth. And this group includes the United States of America, one with us racially as well as in ideals, institutions and objectives, although under a separate government that does not recognise our Throne and Monarchy and yet is just as much a British nation as is Canada or England. And it would be well to keep this fact always in mind for in union there is strength and we are going to need all our strength in our battle against Communism and its evil ideals.

Roughly speaking, there are some 2,500 million people in this world. Of that number our Commonwealth has about 650 millions. This, together with the 180 millions of the United States of America, makes up about one third of the world's total. So our numerical strength should be quite equal to the task of defeating the forces of evil arrayed against us. We need fear for the result if we are true to ourselves.
